About Telix Pharmaceuticals Limited

Telix is an Australian public company (ASX: TLX) headquartered in Melbourne with international operations in Europe, the US and Japan. Our mission is to be a leading, global biopharmaceutical company that delivers on the promise of precision medicine through targeted radiation, and we are currently developing a portfolio of clinical-stage products that address significant unmet medical need in oncology and rare diseases.

About The Role

Due to rapid growth within Telix Pharmaceuticals, this is a newly created opportunity. Reporting to the Director, Global Regulatory Affairs- Operations, the Head of Advertising, Promotion and Labelling will develop and manage regulatory review, approval of US promotional materials and label compliance globally in alignment with Corporate and Group strategic goals. The individual will hold responsibility for providing clear direction, regulatory guidance and regulatory expertise across the business related to US advertising, promotion, and labelling and will serve as a key point of contact to advance Telix drug candidates.

This role may evolve as the business continues to grow however core responsibilities will include:

- Collaborating with teams to guide the regulatory requirements and expectations for compliant communications
- Acting as Regulatory representative for US brand teams, US Medical Affairs, and Corporate Business Communications for promotional tactics, internal field-based communications, medical affair communications, and campaign tactics for media events
- Communicating OPDP expectations and feedback received by Telix, interpretation of applicable laws, regulations and guidance's, and knowledge of FDA enforcement actions
- Contributing to business risk mitigation strategies by following trends in external environment related to advertising, promotion, and medical communication topics
- Reviewing 2253 promotional material submissions to FDA, press materials and communications
- Developing and leading key initiatives to support efficient global label development for worldwide submissions and approvals
- Leading regulatory label functions

About You

You hold a Bachelor's degree (or higher) in a relevant discipline and have progressive and demonstrable experience in pharmaceutical drug development experience, US advertising and promotional materials and label management operations. You are a self-starter with a passion for knowledge and remain up to date on the US regulatory promotional environment. You have a global mindset and enjoy working within cross-functional teams. Above all, you are passionate about your work and committed to Telix's mission.

Why Work at Telix?

We are a dynamic, fast-growing biopharmaceutical company based in Melbourne, Australia that is continuing to grow our presence in the US. In addition to competitive salaries, we offer our employees an annual bonus structure, health and wellness benefits, and the opportunity to build (and hold) equity in the company. You will also be surrounded by an engaged and supportive team of colleagues who all have a shared purpose: to help people with cancer and rare diseases live longer, better quality lives.

Application deadline is Friday 6 May 2022.

Agency support is not required for this role and no submissions will be considered.
